How to get to Trondheim

Airport

The closest airport to Trondheim in Trondheim Værnes. Located about 30 km from the city center. To travel from the airport to the city there are a few options:

Airport Bus:

This is the easiest option. The Værnes ekspressen (airport bus) leaves from right outside the airport, you will see the bus parked right outside the exit doors. A ticket can be purchased from the people standing outside the bus or from a machine in the airport. Tickets cost 220kr one way / 390kr return (22/39€) to go from the airport to Trondheim. On the way back you have to hail the bus. You can book online to get a cheaper price.

Train:

The train stop is located in the airport, follow the signs and the train schedule can be found here. The train cost 43kr (about 5€) and the ticket can be bought on the train or the ATB app.

Taxi:

Taxi is the most expensive option and will cost about 800 kr (80€). The taxi queue is located just outside the exit doors. Taxi is the only option if you are arriving late at night after the bus and train.

Train

There is a train from Oslo which takes about 7 hours.

The train cost 600-1200 kr (60 -120€). Schedule and ticket purchase can be made at VY here. There is currently a disruption in the train lines due to floods, so this is a bus.

Ship

There is a ship that travels the Norwegian coast, if you fly into Bergen and take the Hurtigruten from Bergen to Trondheim. The journey is about 11 hours and tickets are about 500-1000€. You can see the schedule and book here.
